Celebration of Easter.

Easter Day will fall this year on April 23 and the Lenten season will be at an end. Good Friday will be a day of fasting with churchmen and Sunday will be a day of rejoicing for the Risen Christ. As a rather unusual coincidence, the Hebrews will begin at sundown on April 19th the observation of the Feast of the Passover, the commemoration of the time when the Angel of Death saw the blood of the lamb on the door posts of the Hebrews and passed over their homes, while into the house of the Egyptian oppressors the dread visitor went and took away the first-born in every residence, from the hut of the pauper to the palace of the King. Following that event the Hebrew borrowed from the oppressors the things that were believed to be justly the property of the servitors, and at midnight with the consent of Pharaoh departed from the land and began the journey to Canaan.

This feast of the Hebrews will continue for eight days, ending on the evening of April 26th, though the orthodox or stricter party of the people will observe still another day. Thursday, April 20, will be the great day of the feast. —Exchange.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

A Use for Limberger.

An exchange says: "Limberger cheese laid away in cupboards will drive away ants." Verily I say unto you, it will drive dogs out of a tan yard; it will drive buzzards away from a carcass; it will drive a herd of buffalo through a burning forest, and a mule through a barbed wire fence, it will drive men crazy if compelled to stay in 20 feet of its polluted presence, indeed it will drive away ants—and uncles too, and mothers and fathers, brothers, sisters and grandmothers, even to the seventh generation; still there are some who claim to like Limberger—Democrat Northwest, Napoleon, O.

SOUTHERN COTTON ASSOCIATION.

S. E. Peters, Vice President. Calvert, Texas. The Two Associations Merged.

March 20, 1905.

The National Cotton Association, which was organized at Shreveport, La., Dec. 14, 1904, was today dissolved at Fort Worth and its work merged into the Southern Cotton Association, which was created by the New Orleans Convention Jan. 26, 1905. Col. E. S. Peters, of Calvert, Texas, and Mr. Oswald Wilson, of Fort Worth, were the president and secretary respectively of the National Cotton Association.

The merger of the two Associations, which culminated at Fort Worth today under an agreement which was entered into by Col. E. S. Peters, president of the National Cotton Association, and Hon. Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton Association, was the outcome of negotiations which have been pending along this line for the past few weeks. The Southern Cotton Association is now fully organized in all the States east of the Mississippi river and in taking up the work which has heretofore been carried on by the National Cotton Association west of the River, it is confidently predicted that within a very short time, every cotton growing state and territory in the South will be thoroughly combined under splendid system of organization.

The merger which took place today is very gratifying to the officers of the Southern Cotton Association, in view of the fact, that Col. E. S. Peters, who was president of the National Cotton Association, and who will now have active charge of the work of the latter Association west of the Mississippi river.

The consolidation of the two Associations, will avoid any friction in the future and eliminate confusion which has existed in the minds of the business people with reference to the two organizations, both apparently, working to the same end. The Southern Cotton Association looks to the combined organization of the entire people of the South, including not only farmers, but every allied business interest. The great object of the Southern Cotton Association is to protect and safeguard the cotton crop of the South from the bear raids which have so often financially depressed the price of the staple in the past.

The South's supremacy agriculturally, commercially, industrially and financially are the four great planks in the platform of the Southern Cotton Association and in the success of its work, the Association calls to its aid and co-operation not only farmers, but every merchant, banker and allied business interest in the South.

The success of the Southern Cotton Association has been very marked in all of the old States east of the Mississippi river and in Arkansas. There can be no question that the entire business and farming element in the great State of Texas will quickly take hold of this movement and in the near future, it is confidently predicted that the membership of the Association will exceed in Texas the membership in any other State or Territory throughout the cotton belt. The consolidation of the two Associations guarantees perfect harmony for the future, and indicates more than all things else, that the offices of the two associations are more deeply interested in the success of the people of the South than any advancement of the personal interest of any particular association. The president of the Texas Association, R. E. Smith, of Sherman, will be supplied with an abundance of literature of all kinds needed in the county and civil subdivision organizations, and each county can secure all supplies needed, by writing to the state secretary, W. C. Hutchinson, Dublin, Texas.

The department of publicity west of the Mississippi river will be under the direct management of Col. E. S. Peters, vice president of the Southern Cotton Association whose headquarters are at Calvert, Texas.

The entire press of the State and of the South is earnestly requested to aid the movement in every way possible, and the officers of the Association beg to convey their high appreciation at this time for the splendid interest manifested by the Southern Press and the great and valuable aid which has been rendered the movement through that source up to the present time.

E. S. PETERS, HARVIE JORDAN,
Vice President. President.
Southern Cotton Association.
